U.S. FOREIGN-TRADE ZONES

Foreign-trade zones are secure areas under supervision of U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) that are considered outside the customs territory of the United States for the purposes of duty payment. Located in or near customs ports of entry, they are the U.S. version of what are known internationally as free trade zones. Authority for establishing these facilities is granted by the Foreign-Trade Zones Board under the Foreign-Trade Zones Act of 1934, as amended (19 U.S.C. 81a-81u), and the Board's regulations (15 C.F.R. Part 400). The Executive Secretariat of the Board is located within the Import Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce in Washington, D.C.

Foreign and domestic merchandise may, subject to FTZ Board and CBP regulations, be moved into zones for operations not otherwise prohibited by law involving storage, exhibition, assembly, manufacturing, and processing. All zone activity is subject to public interest review, and all manufacturing and processing activity requires a case-by-case review. Under zone procedures, the usual formal customs entry procedure and payment of duties are not required on the foreign merchandise unless and until it enters customs territory for domestic consumption, in which case the importer normally has a choice of paying duties either on the original foreign materials or the finished product. Domestic goods moved into a zone for export are considered exported upon entering the zone for purposes of excise tax rebates and drawback. FTZ sites and activities remain within the jurisdiction of federal, state and local governments and agencies.

Zones are sponsored by qualified public or public-type corporations, which may themselves operate the facilities or contract for their operations with public or private firms. The operations are conducted on a public utility basis, with published rates. A typical general-purpose zone provides leasable storage/distribution space to users in general warehouse-type buildings with access to all modes of transportation. Most zone projects include an industrial park site with lots on which zone users can construct their own facilities. Subzones are usually private plant sites authorized by the Board through zone grantees for operations that cannot be accommodated within an existing general-purpose zone.

The regulations of the Foreign-Trade Zones Board are published in the Code of Federal Regulations at Title 15, Part 400 (15 C.F.R. Part 400), and the regulations of U.S. Customs and Border Protection concerning zones at Title 19, Part 146 (19 C.F.R. Part 146). Information on foreign-trade zones is available of the FTZ Web site at: <http://ia.ita.doc.gov/ftzpage>.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

During the 2002 fiscal year, the Foreign-Trade Zones (FTZ) Board issued 54 formal orders. The decisions included approvals for three new general-purpose zones and 18 new subzones. Authority was also granted for the expansion of 15 existing general-purpose zones and 11 subzones. Other actions involved the granting of authority for revisions to zone plans, as well as approvals for new or increased manufacturing activity.<sup>1</sup>

There were 150 FTZ projects fully active during the year, with subzones in operation in more than 100 of them. The number of facilities using subzone status increased to 237, with 22 new ones initiating the use of FTZ procedures and five discontinuing.

The combined value of shipments into general-purpose zones and subzones totaled $204.1 billion, compared with $225.2 billion last year (Figure 1 and Appendix D). It appears that a major portion of the decrease in the value of zone shipments was related to lower crude oil prices during the period, which affected the value of inputs to a substantial number of zone operations in the oil refining industry. General-purpose sites received $32 billion in merchandise. Total shipments received at subzone sites amounted to $172.1 billion. Some 84 percent of zone activity took place at subzone facilities, which is consistent with the pattern of the past 15 years.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Appendix A contains a summary of each Board Order. Zone authority for manufacturing/processing activity was granted on a restricted basis in nine cases, and activation limits were adopted in another nine. The main products covered by restrictions included crude oil, steel, textiles and robotics.

<sup>2</sup> Appendices B and C contain figures on shipments into and out of general-purpose zones and subzones. Appendix D contains comparative statistics for the past five years. The figures represent the latest statistical data available from grantees. Some are still under review. Adjustments normally amount to less than 1 percent of aggregate shipments and would be reflected in next year's report.

<sup>3</sup> The dollar values in this report and appendices are rounded numbers. Calculations were performed before rounding.

Exports (shipments to foreign countries) from facilities operating under FTZ procedures amounted to $15.6 billion (Figure 2). The export figures do not include indirect exports involving FTZ merchandise that undergoes further processing in the United States at non-FTZ sites prior to export.

Some 319,000 persons were employed at the 2,285 firms that operated under FTZ status during the year. The main foreign-origin products received at zones are listed in Appendix E.

Industries that continued to account for most zone manufacturing activity included the oil refining, automotive, electronic, and pharmaceutical product sectors. An estimated 65 percent of the shipments received at zones for use in manufacturing activity involved domestic status merchandise. The level of domestic status inputs used by FTZ operations indicates that FTZ activity tends to involve domestic operations that combine foreign inputs with significant domestic inputs.

The Board received and filed 46 formal applications during the fiscal year. These proposals requested authority for one new general-purpose zone and 18 subzones, as well as authorization for expansion and new manufacturing at existing zone projects (Appendix F). In addition, over 75 cases were processed under the Board's less formal administrative procedures (Appendix G). The latter cases involved routine, non-controversial changes to zone projects, such as boundary modifications and scope decisions.
